AN UNIVERSITY. Commencement Exercises.

The exercises of commencement week are expected to be of unusual interest. They will begin with the Baccalaureate Sermon by Rev. R. L. the night, and next morning attended preaching at old McAdoo church, Rev. David Morrow officiating. The church is new and commodious, and a good congregation was there to listen to the zealous remarks of the preacher. His text was Agrippa's reply to Paul, "Almost thou persundest me to be a christian." The sermon was a plain, practical exposition of the text-real old fashioned gospel preaching, which to our mind does more good than the new style of rhetorical eloquence with a great flourish of trumpets, which we

The public are invited to attend.

THE TOBACCO CROP.—The weather the first of the present week was very favorable the ravages of the bugs and flies on the plant beds, and complaints are general of the partial, and in many instances total, destruction of the plants. Notwithstanding the discouraging outlook, many of our planters are making great exertions to have plants to put out at least a small crop. Some of them are even now resowing, and it is thought that with favorable seasons from this time forward some tobacco may be raised, though all hope for a full crop is now past. We trust our planters will continue their efforts Memphis Bulletin, then edited by the have a supply of tobacco plants, but and at least raise a sufficient quantity as a general thing they are very to reward them for their exertions.
